U.S. bombing ends tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last U.S. bomb will fall on Cambodia by midnight (EDT) tonight, ending history's longest air war that saw Indochina blasted with a record 7.4 million tons of explosives.

The extra six and a half months of bombing in Cambodia after the Vietnam ceasefire has added to doubts about the ability of air power to force political settlements in wars of this kind.

Despite the backing of more than 430 U.S. bombers and fighter bombers, Cambodia's army of about 190,000 men was squeezed into enclaves by a Communist-led insurgent force about one-fourth its size. As the U.S. bombing drew to a close, the insurgents held about 80 per cent of Cambodia's territory.

Pentagon officials said no one can forecast with any confidence what will happen after the American warplanes halt their bombing runs. The Cambodian military has only 50 small fighter bombers.

The Nixon administration took the position that U.S. bombing support of the Cambodian army was needed to bring about a cease-fire there and North Vietnamese compliance with sections of the Paris agreement requiring Hanoi to pull its troops out of Cambodia.

The U.S. Air Force lost 10 aircraft worth about $31.4 million, on top of the nearly 3,700 planes either shot down or crashed between 1965 and the signing of the Vietnam peace pact.

The Pentagon estimates the six-and-a-half-month phase of the air war in Cambodia and Laos cost the taxpayer about $442.8 million.

6 injured in area traffic accidents

Four area traffic accidents Monday resulted in injuries to six persons, according to the highway patrol.

Mitchell Johnson, 28, of Fredericktown received shoulder and wrist injuries at 5:30 p.m. on Highway 72 eight miles west of Fredericktown when he swerved his car to avoid another vehicle and lost control of the vehicle which ran down an embankment and overturned.

Johnson was taken to Madison County Hospital in Fredericktown.

One- half mile north of the Arkansas state line on Interstate 55 at 6 p.m. a tractor- trailer truck driven by James Melfi Jr., 40, of Idianapolis, Ind., went out of control at a road construction detour, left the road and overturned.

Melfi was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti for treatment of cuts and scratches.

Two persons were injured at 12:01 p.m. when William Polk, 36, of Buffalo, N. Y., lost control of his car which ran off the road and struck a utility pole on Route J three miles west of Deering.

Slightly injured were Odessa Pold, 38, of Buffalo and Michael Brown, 8, of Bragg City. They were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

A one- vehicle accident at 4 p.m. on Route H seven miles southwest of Graniteville in Iron County resulted in injuries to two persons.

The accident occurred when a pickup truck driven west by Hugh Bone, 75, of Middle Brook was passing another vehicle on a hill, cut in, ran off the road and overturned.

A passenger, Della Bone, 50, of Middle Brook, received cuts on the head and another passenger, Cynthia Hedgcoth, 6, of MiddleBrook, suffered cuts on the forehead and severe cuts on the elbow. They were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton.

Get your sweet tooths ready

Sweet corn season and all its related hard work was much in evidence today at Diebold's Orchard near Kelso. Harvest is expected to last through Wednesday on the 15 acres of corn with an expected average yield of 1,000 dozen ears per acre. Pickers (above photo) ride back into the field after unloading all but the culls from one truck load. Joe Diebold (left photo) tosses a double handful of the fresh, sugary corn into a new load. Gina Westrich of Chaffee, left, and Patty Essner of Kelso (right photo) pack the ears behind a corn mountain just before it is sent into a chiller to help keep the taste sugary.

Marshall said property on which taxes have not been paid for the year 1970 will be subject to tax sale on Aug. 27. Letters have been mailed to taxpayers who have real estate with 1970 taxes due urging them to pay this tax as soon as possible to avoid additional interest and advertising costs.

Dedication services set for Vo-Tech Center

HOWARDVILLE-- The program for public dedication services Sunday at 4 p.m. for the new $2.3 million vocational- technical skill center for New Madrid County R- 1 Enlarged School District has been announced by the board of education.

The new school, which will open for classes on Aug. 27, is on an 80- acre site along Highway 61 near the Interstate 55 interchange.

Appearing on the program will be Rep. Bill D. Burlison of Cape Girardeau, 10th District Congressman, and Dr. Arthur Mallory, state commissioner of education.

The program will open with the singing of the national anthem by vocalist Rita Jo DeLisle, accompanied by the New Madrid County R- 1 band. A color guard composed of members of the Portageville detachment 1 of Company C, 1140th Engineer Battalion of Missouri National Guard, will conduct a flag- raising ceremony.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. Walter Davis, pastor of Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church at Lilbourn. Supt. Ray Melton will give welcoming remarks and recognitions, followed by remarks by T. L. Maschmeyer, president of the board of education.

Burlison will make the presentation of a National Heritage Plaque. Special music will follow by the band, and Dr. Mallory will deliver closing remarks.

Visitors will then tour the ultra- modern educational facility which is designed in two circular pods covering 101,800 square feet.

The dedication service and opening of the school climax a five- year educational project by the board of education.

One of the factors in the 1968 district re- organization by Matthews, Lilbourn, Parma, New Madrid and Portageville schools was construction of a vocational- technical school to complement the district's educational program.

In 1970 voters approved a $1.1 million bond issue to complete financing of the school, together with a $1,624,000 grant from the Economic Development Administration.

Construction was started in August 1971 by Brown Construction Co. of Dexter. Architects were Donnellan and Porterfield of Poplar Bluff.

Sam J. Bodine of New Madrid, a 22- year veteran in public education with 20 years experience in New Madrid County, is director of the new skill center.

In addition to job training for high school students, the center will also offer educational programs for dropouts and adults.

East Prairie man sentenced

Larry Adams of 105 N. Martin St., East Prairie, was sentenced to one year in the county jail today in Scott County Magistrate Court after pleading guilty to cashing a $56 bogus check at Jack Frost Discount Store on South Main Street.

In an arrangement worked out between the court and Adams' attorney, Adams will be given the opportunity to get a job in order to pay off $370 worth of other bogus checks. If successful in finding the job, he will be paroled.

Five other felony charges of cashing bogus checks were continued to a later date. The Jack Frost charge was a misdemeanor.

Judge Lloyd Briggs told Adams that he could not write any checks when released from jail.

"Writing another check would be the worst possible thing you could do," Briggs told him. "You're hanging by the thinnest thread in the world."

If Adams fails to pay off the checks or violates his parole, he faces up to 35 years in prison.

Samuel James, 19, of 1408 Washington St. was ordered to Fulton State Hospital for a mental examination at his request. He is charged with the July 26 break- in of the Henry Swanigan home, 1613 Washington St.

Robert Shelton of 301 Carey St., Kennett, was placed on one- year probation for nonsupport.

Other court action and fines included:

Linda Bisher, 109 Taylor, bogus check, dismissed; Michael Crider, 423 Fletcher, assault and battery, continued to Aug. 21; Mrs. Jimmy Lee Moore, 1723 Ford, bogus check, continued to Aug. 21; Judith Nolen of 212 Virginia, East Prairie, bogus check, dismissed.

Jimmy Sloan, theft, preliminary hearing set for Aug. 30; Gary Dean Irvin of Morehouse and Larry Wayne Gilbert of Essex, both charged with tampering with a stolen motor vehicle, continued to Aug. 28; and Silas Hunt, 202 Luther, possession of marijuana, continued to Aug. 21.

GULF STREAM HORSEPOWER

Men may one day harness the energy of the northward - flowing Gulf Stream to spin "underwater windmills."

The idea is suggested by three scientists — Drs. Harris B. Stewart Jr. and John R. Apel of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and Dr. William S. Von Arx of Woods Hold Oceanographic Institution.

They note that the Florida Current, a major component of the Gulf Stream, carries more than 50 times the flow of all the fresh-water rivers of the world right past Miami's front door. Theoretically, the current could produce about 25 megawatts - the output of 25 of the largest power plants built by man — if all the energy could be harnessed.

However, the scientists propose the extraction of only about 4 per cent of the total available energy — about 1,000 megawatts, equal to the output of a single large nuclear station. Taking out more energy might seriously alter the Gulf Stream's flow patterns and disrupt climatic conditions.

The "windmills" that are envisioned would be large, slow turning turbines arrayed across part of the channel between Florida and Bimini at depths between about 100 and 400 feet.

The Public Service Company of Colorado reports a startling innovation: "General Electric Company has designed a new type of cooling tower for electric generating plants. It would propel thermal exhaust into the upper atmosphere. The tower, a hollow ring about 60 feet tall and 600 feet in diameter, also would ventilate the air over metropolitan areas. GE says the tower would reduce the need for cooling water, making it possible to locate power plants some distance from large bodies of water. GE estimates initial cost would be competitive with present designs."

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist wouldn't know if he didn't open his mail:

If you bought a 1,000-pound steer on the half, less than half of it would wind up on your dinner plate. It would dress out to a 600-pound carcass. Fat, bone and waste would trim it another 162, leaving 438 pounds of edible beef.

MORE COVER-UP

President Nixon has refused to turn over the tapes of conversations in his offices to the Senate Watergate committee or to Archibald Cox, the special prosecutor of the Watergate and related crimes.

Nixon bases his refusal on a ridig interpretation of his responsibility under the Constitution to preserve the separation of powers. He claims executive privilege to withhold the tapes, as he has with respect to presidential papers. At first, he also claimed executive privilege to order his staff assistants to refuse to testify before the Ervin committee. But that order was withdrawn.

The issue over the tapes apparently will now have to be decided in the courts, a lengthy process, perhaps — though the Supreme Court can move rapidly in such matters, as it did in the Pentagon Papers case. It is inconceivable to us that the President can validly claim executive privilege concerning matters of alleged crime.

Nixon argued in his letter to Senator Ervin that it would be impossible to separate such material from other comments "on a wide range of issues and individuals." But surely the Senate committee and Prosecutor Cox can be relied on to sort out embarrassing statements not relevant to their probes.

Regardless of the constitutional issue, President Nixon has placed himself in a weak position with the public by refusing to cooperate with the investigators. He said to the Ervin committee: "The tapes are entirely consistent with what I know to be the truth and what I have stated to be the truth."

Thus he is asking the investigators and the public to take his word, to trust him. Yet three-fourths of the people, according to a Gallup Poll, think Nixon was involved in the cover-up of the Watergate crimes. By refusing to divulge the taped conversations, the President increases the doubt and suspicion surrounding himself and his office. The public will conclude that what is recorded on the tapes is evidence that Nixon was involved in the Watergate and other illegal campaign activities.

Claims of executive privilege in order to preserve the separation of powers will not be convincing. Mr. Nixon seems to be reacting to the charges in this case by more cover-up and deception. He seems to be driven into making his problem and the country's worse than it already is. What Mr. Nixon seems not to realize is that his ability to govern the country depends not on whether he has upheld the separation of powers to the ultimate but whether the people believe him.

Unless he can convince the public that he is coming through with all the facts about lawbreaking in his administration, he is inviting Congress to uncover the truth by the impeachment process. The leaders of Congress obviously are reluctant to move in that direction and have leaned over backwards to let Mr. Nixon open up the files, the recordings and the papers to get at the truth.

His refusal makes the public believe he is guilty.

Judging from the squeals of pornography peddlers, the Supreme Court reversed the liberal Warren Court's legacy of tolerance toward obscenity and issued a series of rulings that could pave the way for a nationwide crackdown on pornography.

By a narrow 5 - to - 4 decision the court reversed the 1957 ruling that required prosecutors to prove that allegedly obscene material was "utterly without redeeming social value" and ruled instead that the test will be whether the material, "taken as a whole, does not have serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value."

By the same close margin, the High Court rejected arguments that a national rather than a local standard should govern and refused to exempt from prosecution obscene films and other smut on grounds that it is intended for "consenting adults."

Instead of proving materials are without "redeeming social value," which in the past has proved almost impossible, prosecutors from now on must simply demonstrate that the work, "taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest in sex" and that it "portrays, in a patently offensive way, sexual conduct specifically defined by the applicable law."

The court made clear that "community standards" of decency may be local and not national. Thus, under the court's ruling, a movie may be shown publicly in one city but banned in another. Moreover, obscenity laws might apply to a person transporting sexually explicit materials even for personal use, since those materials could possibly be sold later.

Voting in favor of the tough new rulings were Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justices Harry Blackmun, Lewis Powell, jr., and William Rehnquist -- all Nixon appointees -- plus Justice Byron White. Dissenting were Justices William Douglas, William Brennan, jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall. Douglas, in dissenting spoke of coming "raids on libraries."

In delivering the rulings, Chief Justice Burger noted that it was "the first time" in 16 years that "a majority of this court has agreed on concrete guidelines to isolate hard-core pronography from expression protected by the 1st Amendment." He denounced what he called "the alarm of repression" sounded by the dissenters, saying they demeaned the 1st Amendment by equating "the free and robust exchange of ideas and political debate with commercial exploitation of obscene material."

The American taxpayers need to know that Rep. H. R. Gross (R.-Iowa), our best watchdog of the public purse, is seeking to stop his colleagues from sneaking through legislation which would pave the way for a possible 25 per cent back- door pay increase for lawmakers this year. Also additional pay hikes every non-election year can follow, so congressmen can skirt the issue in re- election campaigns.

Gross is not only objecting the manner in which the pay increase is being handled, but also the timing of the move -- at precisely the moment when the President is trying to cutback federal spending and clamping controls on the economy to stem inflation. If Congress gets a fat new salary increase, says Gross, this will set the stage for huge salary demands at all levels of government and throughout the private sector -- hardly a way to keep control over spending and inflation.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee has just endorsed and sent to the full House the Senate- passed measure to have the President's recommendation on pay hikes for lawmakers presented to Congress by August 31 of this year, instead of in January 1974, an election year. The President's recommendation is based on findings of his Commission on Executive, Legislative and Judicial Salaries, which has reportedly approved at least a $10,000 pay increase for congressmen, who are currently making $42,500 a year.

Unlike most measures that come before Congress, the pay hike will be automatically approved unless Congress vetoes the plan within 30 days — a device that makes it easier for lawmakers to avoid responsibility for increase when they go into law.

Sponsored by Senators Gale McGee (D.-Wyo.) and Hiram Fong (R.-Hawaii), the same measure, which zipped through the Senate on a voice vote, would also have the President's pay hike package presented to Congress every two years, instead of every four years as is the case now. The President's recommendation, moreover, would have to be laid before Congress in non- election years, so that the chance of its becoming an issue in a campaign would be far more remote than it is today.

In serving notice that he will try for a roll- call vote on the floor when the pay hike recommendations reach the House, Rep. Gross said:

"There is no question but what the pay members of Congress and other officials of government has been cut by inflation, but that is true of tens of thousands of others across the nation, especially those who are living on fixed incomes.

"And it is Congress that has contributed more than its share to the wild spending that has generated the inflation that is now eating into the sinews and backbone of the nation.

"It is now up to Congress as well as the President to set the example for an all- out war on inflation and the financial crisis that confronts every man, woman and child in this country. The day of reckoning is at hand."

Amen! And don't forget to let your congressmen know just how you feel about the issue.

MORE SOVIET PURGES

Purges now going on in the Soviet Union receive little attention in the world news media, but they should be widely noted and taken into account in any dealings with the communist dictators of that unhappy land. Because elections are meaningless in communist nations, purges provide the method of making major changes in office holders.

During the days of Lenin and Stalin, thousands of office holders were murdered in these purges. Today, fewer are actually killed but their lives are effectively ruined in other ways. These periodic purges prove again the futility of trying to deal with communist dictators in the same way that freely- elected governments can be dealt with. As is often the case in recent years, the purges are aimed at leaders in non-Russian areas such as Armenia, Ukraine, Georgia (Stalin's old homeland), and Azerbaidzhan.

More than half the people of the Soviet Union are non-Russian, yet the Russians continue to impose their culture and their rule on the majority of non- Russians. The Soviet constitution "guarantees" cultural autonomy to the scores of non-Russian peoples, but these guarantees are as useless as the other communist promises.

Of course, the Russians themselves, except for the communist party elite, have no rights or privileges. The history of communist dictators and of dealings with them has been a sorry story. Our own leaders can put no faith in either their word or their stability. HLH

Neo- Revolutionists Zero In on Detroit; Could Whip Auto Bargaining Into National Strike

DETROIT--- This car-making town, catapulting into tense collective bargaining, is heating up--- ominously. There are radical "cats" running wild and wildcat strikes running down parts of the critical industry. There are revolutionists--- white and black, crew- cut and long- haired--- cutting in on the action.

There are direct actionists who want to seize the plants, hobble the giant auto union, cripple the management and even hit the streets in French-style gutter fighting.

They call themselves WHAM, RU and socialists with a small "s." Some are from the eternal youth, hangers- on from Wayne State U., who can be seen at some local union sessions, waving their hair and hands, signaling for cheers, boos and the howling down of union officials.

There are not many of them. But it takes only a few cells to whip up intra- union and industrial guerrilla warfare. It took only two black "socialists," on July 24, to seize the power cage at the Chrysler Jefferson Avenue assenbly plant, shut it down, cost the company some 950 expensive cars and walk out saying something that sounded like "control the power and you have the power to control the company."

There are RU infiltrators, members of the Revolutionary Union, a small Maoist movement which recently moved its headquarters from San Francisco to Chicago, according to federal authorities. They are the sabotage type. To be a member in good standing, one has to hold a job in some strategic industry--- and be ready for action. They are remnants of the old Dodge Revolutionary Movement, mostly black.

There are white Weather people. And there is surveillance by the FBI. It's all very sensitive.

"The movement in the Chrysler plants is ominous," says one of Detroit's most respected and top executive-suite auto industry officials. "It is an invitation to militant minority groups to take things into their own hands and cripple what they will."

He's right. There is rank-and- file dissatisfaction with the plant conditions springing from the cramped facilities every inch of which is now being used to keep up with the fantastic auto and especially truck demands from across the world. During negotiations rank- and- file fever hots up--- especially in torrid weather. So they stalk out. And the radical units sift in.

If they can close an installation such as the Chrysler Detroit Forge plant, they can cripple considerable production because "Forge" turns out axles, torsion bars, crank shafts and pinions--- without which the assembly factories can't function.

The United Auto Workers vice president Doug Fraser, in charge of the union's Chrysler division, agrees with the industrialist. It's ominous.

But the collective bargaining in the air-conditioned suites far above the noise continues. And there could be a strike despite the prevailing odds against a stoppage.

But which firm will be chosen as a target, first for pressure and then for a walkout-- and what will be the issues?

First, it should be reported that the UAW has the money to blow on a stoppage. The $160 million spent for relief and other strike costs during the 1970 holocaust against General Motors has been replenished in good par. Their multimillion dollar debts have been repaid. And the strike fund will stand at about $65 million by Sept. 14, the official contract expiration deadline.

On Aug. 21, the union's chiefs will gather in Milwaukee to pick the target. It's "gospel," says one of the five top officials, that "we just don't know which company it will be." And policy- making executives of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler agree. Target unknown.

It is agreed that it won't be GM. Most insiders say it will be Chrysler. But inside the inside, they say the odds still are 50-50 for Ford, though the union rotates and GM and Ford have been struck the last two times around.

The issues? First will be demands for more money in various fashions. A straight raise, of course. But also unnoted is the union's demand for "modernizing the COLA." Meaning--- they want to speed up and increase payments of the Cost of Living Allowance. Now the auto unionists get a penny an hour more for every 0.4 per cent increase in the Consumers Price Index.

Now the union wants a penny to match every penny increase. They have a formula to jack up the increased COLA payments--- add a penny an hour to the wages every time COLA goes up 0.24 per cent.

The union estimates this will be an increase of 30 per cent. The industry reckons this could cost scores of millions of dollars more annually.

And the union wants dental care which it doesn't have. Meaning, they want the companies to add this costly item to the medical coverage. And there is talk of full benefits for those who retire after 30 years work before 56 years of age.

There are lots of other bread- and- butter issues, all technical--- all costly. Of course, there is the talk of ending compulsory overtime and UAW participation in decisions on which plant is safe to work in.

But the basic issues, it seems to me, are intertwined with money, in the envelope and in the pitch for hiked- up Cost of Living increases. And the dental care.

These are gut issues now with food prices spurting like Venus- bound rockets.

This is the front on which the militants and radicals rush in. It won't take much to whip up hysteria, wipe out reason, hike costs and price the industry out of the market. The wild "cats" and wildcats might just about accomplish all this.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Dirty Tricks Used Among Republicans?

WASHINGTON-- Outraged Republican leaders have accused Charles Colson, the fomer White House trouble shooter, of spreading whispers that Robert Finch suffered a mental breakdown in 1970.

The tale is disputed by no less than former Surgeon General Jesse Steinfeld, who examined Finch's medical records, spoke to his doctors and told us, "They found nothing seriously wrong with him."

But a memo originating in Colson's office has been used as part of a "poison pen'. campaign to discourage California Republicans from backing Finch for governor next year.

Colson, whose politics run counter to Finch's liberal Republican views, vigorously denied that he had any intention of hurting Finch. Nevertheless, an angry GOP leader, referring to Colson's former role as White House aide- in- charge- of- dirty-tricks, told us, "Now, he's using his dirty tricks against us."

We have now seen the private memo out of Colson's office. Colson sent it to Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Caspar Weinberger, whom Colson has encouraged to run for governor of California.

The memo was written by a former White House intern who reported to Colson on California politics.

"In talking to my California friends," he wrote, "I detect increasing concern about the gubernatorial election. Nobody, but nobody, is happy about Finch; on the other hand, he is clearly the strongest right now....

"Reinecke (Lt. Gov. Ed), whom Reagan (Gov. Ronald) and Nofziger (ex- White House aide Lynn) are running, is an idiot and a sure loser in the general (election).

"Another factor which has added to my personal concern is something which my friend (a Democrat with excellent connections on Capitol Hill) has told me. After Finch had his breakdown or whatever it was in 1970, Jesse Steinfeld, according to this guy, examined him and, apparently, had some other people look at him too.

"Steinfeld, good administration loyalist that he was, apparently was not too fond of Finch, and so circulated the examination reports among some Demos on the Hill. This guy has no reason to lie to me...in any event, he tells me he saw the report, and so did more than a few others, and while it's not disastrous, he says, it would raise Eagleton-type questions about Finch's ability to handle the job....

"I want to emphasize that I have no personal knowledge of this at all, but I do trust this guy and I do think it's a matter worth considering. I sure as hell would use it against Finch if I were running against him.

"If you do get interested in doing something about the California situation, there's nobody who could unite the situation out there more effectively than Cap Weinberger, who would make a damn good governor to boot-- Reagan loves the guy and the northern California liberal types would be thrilled."

Steinfeld told us he never examined Finch. But with Finch's permission, Steinfeld studied his medical records and spoke to his doctors. "There was no nervous breakdown, no mental instability," said Steinfeld.

We also spoke to the author of the memo, who has now left the White House and could lose his new job if he were named. He insisted that he had merely passed on an unverified report in a memo he intended to be strictly private. His Democratic source, whom we also contacted, denied ever seeing Finch's medical records, as Colson's man had quoted him in the memo.

Colson told us he had sent the memo to Weinberger merely "to let him know that he would be a unifying candidate if he chose to run for governor. It was not intended on my part," stressed Colson, "in any was as a reflection on Bob Finch for whom I have enormous affection and regard."

PENTAGON BRIEFS: To encourage enlistments, the Navy decided to spend $500,000 to $1 million per ship to install new berths, bigger mirrors, paneling, carpets, new toilets, tiling and handsome decor. But the Navy decided to keep the Marines, who serve aboard Navy ships for short stretches, in their same old sardine can- like quarters, with only minor changes.

The Army's Tactical Date Systems at Fort Belvoir, Va., has found a way to get around Pentagon economy demands. One unit has bragged it can bring its costs down from $2.5 million to $1.5 million. But confidential Army documents show the unit plans to make the cut by firing several dozen employes and hiring outside contractors. One Army evaluator objected, saying it is "morally unconscionable to increase contractor space allocations while rifling (firing) personnel."

Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

Ann Landers

Kicking hubby wants '1' bed

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letters from the wives of snorers. I should be so lucky. My husband is a hitter.

Kevin and I have been married 16 years and he insists on one bed. He has always been a restless sleeper but in the last few years he has gotten worse. From time to time I have suggested twin beds. His answer is always the same. "Over my dead body." Once I answered, "Don't tempt me." He gave me a dirty look and I haven't mentioned twin beds since.

In the last few months Kevin has given me two black eyes and a nosebleed. When I wake him up it's news to him. He doesn't know a thing.

This is his explanation: When he was a kid in South Boston he used to sleep with his brother Mike. They fought all the time. (They still do.) When Kevin punches me he says he is dreaming about his childhood and he thinks he is hitting Mike. Does this make any sense to you? ---Black And Blue

Dear B. and B.: After 16 years I would hope that your husband doesn't think he is still sleeping with his brother. Dreams often go back to early childhood and it may well be that Kevin is reliving his youth. You are generous to give him the benefit of the doubt. He should be equally generous and buy you twin beds for your birthday or anniversary, whichever comes first.

Dear Ann: What precautions are taken in your office to make sure no letter is accidentally printed in the newspaper?

I wrote to you about a very intimate problem recently and I would be humiliated if that letter should appear in print. I asked that my letter not be published but now I am worried sick that perhaps it might slip through. Please put my mind at ease. ——Irene Of The Sleepless Nights.

Dear S. N.: Every word that appears in this space goes through my typewriter three times. I keep the original letters beside me to make certain I get the facts right. Before I start to put together a week's column I read all the letters one more time to make sure the writer has not asked that his letter not be used in the paper.

No letter is printed "by accident." So good night, Irene. Get some sleep.

Dear Ann Landers: You have printed several letters in your column about smokers because they figure the damage has been done.

Last week I came across an article while waiting in my doctor's reception room. It was so encouraging I took out a pencil and wrote down the key sentences. Here they are: A chest surgeon wrote, "Those dirty, black, tar-filled lungs can be restored to a new state of pink purity in from three weeks to three years after the smoker quits --- depending on how long he has smoked." In other words, diseased lungs CAN and DO clear up if the smoker stops before a malignancy begins.

This information will give new hope to those who continue to smoke because they think it's too late to quit. Sign me--- I Feel Better Already

Dear Feel Better: Thankyou for what will be the best news of the day for a good many readers. And now, all you hackers, coughers and polluters --- there IS hope for you, so do something about it.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex--- Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper.

Oran ROTC cadet attends advanced camp

FT. RILEY, Kan.--- Cadet Karl M. Heisserer, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Heisserer of Oran, Mo., Route One, received practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps advanced summer camp from June 9 to July 20 at Ft. Riley.

Cadet Heisserer, a student at the University of Missouri-Rolla, was one of some 7,200 students who attended Army ROTC training at five installations in the United States.

The ROTC advanced camp provides an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment. The instruction supplements theories and concepts which cadets learned in the classroom on campus.

Cadets normally attend the training between their junior and senior years. This enables them to better comprehend their final year of classroom work and to function as cadet leaders on campus.

A temperature of 136.4 degrees in the shade was recorded at Al Aziziyah, Libya, in September 1922.

Rules meetings set

John Lawson, well known southeast Missouri athletic official, will conduct two football rules interpretation meetings for the Missouri State High School Activities Association this month.

Illmo- Scott City high school will be the site for the first meeting, Aug. 21, beginning at 7:30.

Lawson will conduct the Rules meeting and hold a techniques and mechanics meeting at Dexter Aug. 29 beginning at 7 p.m.

All local officials re required to attend one of the meetings, which is also open to prospective officials and the public.

There are relatively few rules differences from the 1972 edition of the official football rules. Those changes that are thought to be of particular interest in administering the game are: (Rules)

1. 1- 3- 3 Authorizes the use of an unofficial auxiliary market to indicate the line- to- gain on the sideline opposite the chain and downmarker.

2. 1- 51a Includes the chin strap as part of the required head protector.

5. 2- 30- 6 Defines the spot of the foul for failure to continuously wear required player equipment as the spot where the foul occurs. Enforcement to be in accordance with the all- but-one principle.

6. 3- 5- 3 Provide that a team may be granted a charged time- out following a charged time- out by the opponent. Each time is limited to one charged time-out period during a given dead ball period.

Concerted efforts is being made to improve the administration of the game and to better the competency of the game official. The MSHSAA is giving special emphasis to the training of beginning officials. Each coach and Officials Association is encouraged to recruit new officials that have an interest and a current understanding of the game.

New Regulation: Three days of conditioning required. MSHSAA Athletic By- Law 6, now requires that the first three days of pre-season football practice for each team and individual player shall be without player equipment, excepting helmets and shoes. Full equipment may not be worn until the fourth day of practice. This applies to both senior high and junior high school football programs.

Football playoff plans

COLUMBIA — The Missouri State High School Activities Association announced today its plans for the 1973 MSHSAA Football Playoffs. Schools will again compete in four classes: Class AAAA- 1201 and above, Class AAA- 501-1200, Class AA- 251- 500, Class A- 250 and under. High School practice opens Wednesday throughout the state.

There will be four districts for each class with the team in each district having the highest rating qualifying to participate in the semifinal games to be played Saturday, November 24, 1973. The rating is determined by a formula based on the caliber of competition the school plays. The final games will be played Saturday, December 1, 1973.

In all classes, the qualifier from District I will be paired with the qualifier from District II, and the qualifier from District III will be paired with the qualifier from District IV in semifinal games. The winners of the semifinal games will be paired for the finals.

The site for each playoff game will be selected by the qualifying school located in a designated district, with the following exception: In the final round when one team has played on its home field and the other team has not, the site of the final game will be selected by the latter team. If both teams have played the semi- final game on sites of their choice then the schedule below would apply.

Sites are to be determined as follows with consideration for the exception mentioned above:

Class AAAA- The schools qualifying in Districts I and III will select semifinal sites. and the semifinal winner in District I or II will select the final site.

Class AAA- Semifinal sites will be selected by qualifiers in Districts II and IV, with the final site to be selected by the winner from District III or IV.

Class AA- Qualifiers from Districts II and IV will select semifinal sites, and the semifinal winner from District I or II will select the final site.

Class A- Semifinal site will be selected by the qualifiers from Districts I and III, with the semifinal winner from District I or II selecting the final site. (See pp. 2-3 of Manual for future years.)

In case of a tie in semifinal games the ball will be placed on the ten- yard line with each team having a series of four downs in which to attempt to score. The team which has the most points after both teams have had their series of downs will be declared the winner. If there is no winner, the procedure will be repeated. (See pp. 7-10 in Manual.) in case of a tie score in the final games the game will not continue and the score will remain tied.

Football practice will open August 15 with first games to be played Friday, September 14. All coaches have received bulletins from the MSHSAA Office requesting that they give careful attention to heat indexes in order to protect athletes during practice in hot weather.

Dove nests vulnerable

If someone could teach carpentry to the mourning dove, there's be a whole lot more doves.

Missouri's stormy spring wreaked havoc everywhere, including in the dove- nesting community. Doves build a flimsy affair of sticks, lay two eggs and keep their toes crossed until the young are fledged some 28 days later.

Wind and rainstorms not only can destroy nests, but after the eggs are hatched, can throw young birds from the nest and that means death, for dove young are helpless until they are fully feathered.

"I don't think the loss of young birds this spring will have an effect on the hunting season," says Ken Sadler, Department of Conservation dove biologist. "There's at least a possibility that later nestings will made up for the loss."

Doves nest from 4-6 times a summer, each time laying two eggs. Mortality is high. Many predators destroy nests, with the blue jay a prime culprit.

"What we don't know is whether dove nesting attempts are limited by the physical resources of the bird – whether they nest until they wear out -- or whether they stop nesting because of changing lenth of daylight. Or perhaps it's a combination of both," Sadler says.

The 1973 season will be Sept. 1 through Oct. 30, with a daily limit of 10 and possession limit of 20. Missouri's season success depends much on weather. Young doves, which are the bulk of the hunter's bag, are the first to migrate when cool weather arrives and an early cold snap could chill the hunting season.

Sadler's annual statewide census, taken in June, was off 22 per cent from the 1972 census. If the losses occurred early enough in that nesting cycle, Sadler feels the doves could compensate by renesting.

"The less time and effort the adults have invested in nesting, the sooner they can recycle," he says. "If we assume that doves have only so much of themselves that they can give up -- egg production in the case of females and the so-called 'pigeon milk' or crop exudation which both adults feed the young, then they would have given up less if the young were lost early."

Doves prefer evergreens, especially red cedar, for early nest attempts, probably because there is protection. Later nests find the birds moving to other trees, with honey locust a favorite. Undoubtedly the locust's keen thorns help protect the doves from predators.

Doves are about as agreeable to man's intrusions as any wildlife. In fact, sometimes the intrusions are beneficial. "We know that when we create openings in the woods, there is an immediate increase in the number of nesting doves," Sadler says.

Most wildlife benefits from woodland openings which create "edge," including deer and turkeys. A half- million dollar program to create such openings, along with water supply, on the two Missouri national forests, Clark and Mark Twain, was passed by Congress in 1972.

The sketchy nest of sticks put together by a mourning dove is highly succeptible to damage by wind and storm and loss of young doves is high. Spring storms in 1973 undoubtedly took a heavy toll of early dove broods, but later hatches may have made up for the early loss.

Cards fall

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dave Roberts pitched a five-hit shutout for the Houston Astros Monday night and was nearly upstaged in the process.

The club's Cesar Cedeno, the National League's All-Star center fielder, crashed into the wall but held the ball and helped the Astros flog the failing St. Louis Cardinals 4-0.

The gem in the second inning came before the scoring in a rain-delayed contest, the Cards' eighth straight defeat.

Cedeno, demonstrating the speed that makes him the NL's third-ranking base stealer, went to the 380-foot mark in left-center and leaped for a drive off the bat of Cards rookie Hector Cruz.

Umpire Terry Tata hesitated, then called Cruz out as the bruised Cedeno staggered to his feet and produced the baseball.

"That catch and Roberts pitching did us in," conceded Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, who watched his team's lead in the NL East Division shrink to two games.

"All I can say is that guy's a heck of an outfielder. If it hadn't been for that catch we would have been in front and might have won," said Schoendienst.

Cedeno's catch saved an inside-the-park home run that would have scored Joe Torre ahead of Cruz and put the Cards on top 2-0.

Afterward doubles by Bob Watson and Lee May showed the Astros in front and two Cardinals errors, one on a rundown, helped Houston score in the fifth.

Jim Wynn blsted Cards righthander Mike Nagy, 0-1, for his 19th home run with one out in the seventh, and Tommy Helms singled hom a run in the eighth.

"There was no doubt about the catch," Houston Manager Leo Durocher said in respect to Cedeno's sparkling play.

"Helms went out to get the ball and so did Watson, but he had it in his glove. If he hadn't, they 'd sure as heck have thrown the ball back in."

The slim Roberts, who struck out four and walked one, relied heavily on a slider to boost his record to 12-9 and become the fourth straight left-hander to trim the skidding Cards.

Joe Torre and Ted Simmons singled in the first four innings, then the 6-foot-3, 172-pound pitcher set down 12 straight batters.

"The slider was the best pitch I had going," he said. "I just kept the ball down and didn't have any trouble."

Security tightens

ATLANTA (AP) — Henry Aaron will be well protected as he travels on the road with the Atlanta Braves in National League cities.

"It's nothing major. It's rather routine, in fact," said Braves Vice President Dick Cecil Monday, confirming that extra police protection had been requested for Aaron out of town.

"We've talked to each club about being aware of any potential problems and trying to avert any problems, especially as Henry gets close to the record," said Cecil.

Aaron, who has slammed 28 home runs this season, is just 13 shy of the all-time career record of 714 set by Babe Ruth.

Aaron will try to improve his mark of 701 today when the Braves face the Chicago Cubs in Wrigley Field.

The 39-year-old Atlanta slugger has reportedly received hate mail and occasional abuse from fans in the stands.

Cecil said there were no specific instructions to the other clubs regarding Aaron. "They know their ball parks better than anyone else."

Transition Govt. figures released

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — More than 2,000 persons were interviewed and $57,000 was spent by a nonprofit corporation set up last winter to handle the transfer of Missouri government from former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Expenditures and contributions of Missouri Transition Government Inc., were made public Monday. The corporation was set up for interviewing job applicants, setting up the new office of administration and preparing the proposed budget for the current fiscal year.

Nearly half the money, $31,963.83, came from a federal grant through the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. It was approved by the state Department of Community Affairs before Bond was inaugurated.

The executive director of the state Democratic party, Will Davis, has criticized the delay in releasing the report, and said the grant, appropriated for senior citizen housing among other things, "was utilized instead to underwrite wholesale firing of Democratic employes."

Bond is a Republican. Alfred Sikes, Bond's campaign manager who directed Missouri Transition Government Inc., said the federal money could not have been spent for senior citizen housing and that job applicants were not identified by their political party.

"Not one democrat was fired," he said Monday.

The report listed contributions of $27,6705.94. Of the $57,079, salaries used up $30,763, $15,845 was spent on operational expense and $8,970 was spent on contracts with private firms.

Davis said today Sikes had told him the federal grant was $40,000. "If that's an indication of their bookkeeping, I wonder how accurate the rest of it (report) is," Davis said.

Davis said it was ridiculous for Sikes to say the grant, from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, could not have been used for housing purposes.

He also disputed Sikes' statement that no Democrats were fired and persons interviewed for jobs were not ask to state their politics. He said the report did not give a complete enough breakdown of the expenditures.

Davis also questioned whether Sikes should have been working as head of the transition government while drawing a salary from the state auditor's office.

The board of directors — Clarence C. Barksdale of St. Louis, Charles H. Price of Kansas City and John B. Mahaffey of Springfield—recommended that legislation be adopted to set up and fund a transition agency.

The report said 300 candidates were interviewed for top level positions. Personnel files totaling 2,200 were compldted and given to the state personnel board for filling vacancies as they occur. About r00 persons were hired as a result of interviews by Missouri Transition Government Inc., by the time Bond was inaugurated Jan. 9, 1973, and 1,880 person had been interviewed, the report said.

Several firms sent personnel experts to assist in interviewing. The corporation also prepared the governor's proposed budget and made recommendations on legislation. Thirty bills were prepared for the governor's legislative program, the report said.

Listed as giving $1,000 each were the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, J. C. Nichols Co. of Kansas City, Missouri Public Service Co. of Kansas City, First National Bank of St. Louis, Schnuck Markets, Inc., of St. Louis, Kansas City Life Insurance Co. of Kansas City and Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis.

Among those giving $500 were Kansas City Power and Light Co., City National Bank of St. Louis, Dr. T. A. Morrison of Aurora, Vendo Co. of Kansas City, Woolf Brothers of Kansas City.
